Note generali	"August 1973." "From information collected in a national survey of podiatrists conducted by the National Center for Health Statistics in 1970, statistics are presented on selected demographic and professional characteristics of active and inactive podiatrists. Podiatrists are statistically described in terms of demographic characteristics such as age, sex, and geographic distribution and by selected features of their professional activity, principal form of employment, and clinical and nonclinical functions." Includes bibliographical references.
