Sommario/riassunto

China is among a number of large developing country or new powers on the ascendance in the international system, all of which are deepening their economic relations with Africa. However, China is the largest and most powerful of this group. It has sought closer economic relationships with other developing country regions and continents such as Latin America and Central Asia, but it is with Africa - the continent that hosts more developing countries than any other - that China has fostered the closest links. This book provides an overview of how the China - Africa relationship has evolved.
