

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910733196103321
Autore	Woods Lesley
Titolo	Something's Gotta Change : Redefining Collaborative Linguistic Research
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Canberra : , : ANU Press, , 2023 ©2023
ISBN	1-76046-548-8
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource
Collana	Asia-Pacific Linguistics Series
Disciplina	499/.15072
Soggetti	Aboriginal Australians - Languages - Research Linguistics - Australia Language - Linguistics
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Nota di contenuto	1. Introduction. -- 2. What do we already know? -- 3. The research project. -- 4. What did they say? -- 5. Where too now?
Sommario/riassunto	'Indigenous people are pushing back against more than 200 years of colonisation and rejecting being seen by the academy as 'subjects' of research. A quiet revolution is taking place among many Indigenous communities across Australia, a revolution insisting that we have control over our languages and our cultural knowledge - for our languages to be a part of our future, not our past. We are reclaiming our right to determine how linguistic research takes place in our communities and how we want to engage with the academy in the future. This book is an essential guide for non-Indigenous linguists wanting to engage more deeply with Indigenous communities and form genuinely collaborative research partnerships. It fleshes out and redefines ethical linguistic research and work with Indigenous people and communities, with application beyond linguistics. By reassessing, from an Indigenous point of view, what it means to 'save' an endangered language, Something's Gotta Change shows how linguistic research can play a positive role in keeping (maintaining) or putting (reclaiming) endangered languages on our tongues.'- Taken from publisher's website.

