| Sommario/riassunto | This manual is an instructional guide to provide healthcare educatorswith best practices for acknowledging and addressing racial and ethnichealth disparities (REHD) in medical education. As a collaborative effortwritten by both medical students and educators, this manual examinesthe impact of race, racism, and ethnic biases on medical care andhealth outcomes. This book enables readers to understand and applykey terms encompassing health disparities, bias, and cultural humilityas an approach to demystify stereotypes, social assumptions and long-held misperceptions that influence the misuse of race in medicalteachings. By examining the construct of race, differences betweenrace-based and race-conscious medicine are distinguished. As such,medical educators will be guided to consider the effects ofsocioeconomic differences, environmental factors, and institutionalracism between population categories with regard to healthcarecompliance and outcomes. Supported by evidence-basedrecommendations, this manual provides medical educators, curriculummanagers, and institutions with strategies and checklists to improvetheir medical curricula to ensure a well-defined understanding of raceand ethnicity in medicine. This book serves as a resource for medicaleducators and students as they aspire to become more culturallycompetent, equity-minded, and inclusive healthcare professionals |
