

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910767520503321
Autore	Ugeux Georges
Titolo	Wall Street's assault on democracy : how financial markets exacerbate inequalities // Gorges Ugeux ; foreward by Jacques de la Rosière
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Cham, Switzerland : , : Springer Nature Switzerland AG, , [2023] ©2021
ISBN	3-031-29094-1
Edizione	[First edition.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (244 pages)
Disciplina	332.041
Soggetti	Capital market - Moral and ethical aspects Capital market - Social aspects Capitalism - Social aspects Democracy Equality - Economic aspects
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Intro -- Foreword -- Acknowledgments -- Contents -- About the Authors -- Introduction: Wall Street's Denial -- 2022: The Year When the Veil of the Temple Was Torn -- The Pandemic Crisis -- And Then There Was War -- The Energy Crisis -- But All Is Not Lost for Everybody -- The Looming Sovereign Debt Crisis -- Central Banks Lose Control of Inflation -- The Chinese Economy in Financial Demise -- 2023 or the Year Depositors Were Favored with Public Money: SVB, FRB, and Credit Suisse -- The Mismanagement of Silicon Valley Bank -- The Contagion of First Republic Bank -- The Credit Suisse Saga -- The Three Cases Have a Common Thread -- The Disconnect with the Real Economy -- Inflation Rears Its Ugly Head -- Fraud and Manipulation Are on the Rise -- Wall Street Imposes Its Short-Term Vision -- Priority to the Shareholder: The Ideology That Creates Inequality -- Humanism Rather Than Populism -- The Emergence of Plutocracy -- The Cause Is Not Lost -- It Is Time to Tell the Truth -- An Unsustainable Inequality -- The Excesses of Financial Markets Threaten Democracy -- The Stock Market Is Not an Economic or Political Barometer -- Citizens Are Falling into the Debt Trap -- Modern Monetary Theory Is Political -- A

Reminder of Previous Episodes -- Before and After 2008: A Classic Financial Crisis -- The Explosion of Debt Since the Global Financial Crisis of 2008 -- The Year 2020: A Viral Tsunami -- Wall Street at the Heart of Financial Capitalism -- The Power of Financial Markets -- The IMF and the World Bank Sound the Alarm -- Financial Accountability -- To Whom Are Financiers Accountable? -- The Fragmentation of Authorities Facilitates Unaccountability -- Beyond Compliance: Social Responsibility -- A Coalition of Interests Facilitates Manipulation -- The Weakening of Democratic Control -- The Pillars: Issuers and Investors in Search of Growth and Profit. Companies Looking for Equity and Long-Term Financing -- The Challenges of the Listed Company -- Not Every Company Can Become Public -- Governance of Listed Companies -- Access to International Capital -- The Chinese Dilemma -- Investors Look for Valuable Assets -- Investor Diversity and Market Fragmentation -- Individual Investors -- Private Equity Funds -- Mutual Funds and Investment Trusts -- Hedge Funds -- Insurance Companies -- Pension Funds -- Governments as Shareholders, or the Double Language -- AIG and Hank Greenberg -- The Conservatorship of Fannie Mae and Freddy Mac -- France and the Double Voting Rights -- Emerging Markets and State Ownership -- Sovereign Wealth Funds -- The Operators in Search of Liquidity -- Market Makers Between Volume and Investment -- Algorithmic Trading: A Short-Term Mechanism -- Brokers at the Service of the Investor -- Banks at the Heart of Conflicts of Interest -- The Crisis of 1929 Excluded Banks from Capital Markets -- The End of the Glass-Steagall Act or the Return of the Universal Bank in the United States -- The Domination of the Bond Market by the Banks -- Banks as Prime Brokers at the Service of Hedge Funds -- Are Public Authorities Complicit or Ignorant? -- Governments and the Explosion of Sovereign Debt -- Is There a Limit to the Indebtedness of the United States? -- Is Europe in Control of Its Indebtedness? -- The Japanese Mirage -- The Regulatory Authorities' Denial of Sovereign Risks -- Central Banks to the Rescue of Financial Markets and Borrowers -- Central Banks Buy Back Government Bonds: A High-Risk Self-Financing Operation -- Should Central Banks Support the Financial Markets? For Whom Do Central Banks Work? -- Central Banks at the Service of the Capital Markets? -- An Ecosystem at the Service of the Corporate World -- Law Firms or the Privatization of Financial Law. Audit Firms and the Temptation of Complacency -- Enron in Collusion with Arthur Andersen -- Ernst & Young Does Not Check the Bank Statements of Wirecard -- The Media at the Service of the Financial Markets -- How Does the Control of Information Affect the Proper Functioning of Markets? -- The Single Mind of the Financial Markets -- No One Size Fits All -- Financial Markets Operate in Their Own Interest -- Stock Markets in the Oven and in the Mill -- A Little History: From "Seat" Owners to a Public Company -- Shareholder Transformation and Acquisitions -- The United States -- Europe -- Asia -- The Valuation of Companies at the Heart of Stock Exchanges -- What Is the Value of a Listed Company? -- Price Fragmentation and Platform Abundance -- Beware of Your Friends... -- Trading Platforms -- Pseudo Markets: Crypto Exchanges and Other Platforms -- Liquidity Is the Core of the Market, But It Is Not an End in Itself -- The Contribution of the Financial Markets Is Essential -- Pensions Financed by the Financial Markets -- The Growing Importance of Energy Transition -- Healthcare's Thirst for Financing: A Viral Need -- The Growing Impact of Financial Markets on Households -- Sophisticated Investors: The United States vs Europe -- Know Your Customer:

The Golden Rule for Brokers and Financial Advisors -- Investment in Funds: Indirect Influence? -- Barriers to Entry -- Incomprehensible Language -- The Onslaught Through Financial Marketing -- Addiction to Debt -- Unequal Access to Financial Markets -- A Source of Enrichment for the Wealthy? -- Ninety Percent of the World Population Has No Access to Financial Markets -- Is Financial Innovation Making Financial? -- The Innovative Products -- Derivatives: Who Benefits? -- Short Selling: What Is the Credit Risk of Securities Lenders? -- Is That All?.

Increasing the Size of Financial Markets for Liquidity Reasons? -- The Crypto (In)experiment or the Creation of Assets Without Substance -- Cryptos Are a Gigantic Ponzi Scheme -- A Net Loss to the Economy -- Facebook and Its Libra, or an Arrogant Company's Dreams of Grandeur -- Central Bank Digital Currencies, or the Defensiveness of Currency Issuers -- Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs): A Useful Innovation -- High-Frequency Trading, or the Race to the Nanosecond for the Strongest -- The Regulation of Innovation Is Essential -- The Problem of Regulators -- A Culture Above the Law? -- When the Ideology of the Markets Defies Democracy -- Do Financial Markets Have an Ideology? -- The Invasion of American Financial Capitalism -- The Marshall Plan -- A Series of Big Bangs -- The Arrival En Masse of American Players on the London Market -- The Cult of Shareholder Value -- Without Shareholders, There Would Be No Companies -- The Dogma of the Primacy of Shareholder Value Conflicts with Social Purpose -- Is Shareholder Enrichment Going Beyond What They Deserve? -- The Question of Inequality Cannot Be Avoided -- Executive Compensation Tied to Market Prices -- What About Stock Options? -- The Race for Shareholder Return -- What About the Dividend? -- Share Buybacks to Boost Returns... and Threaten Financial Stability -- The Short and Long Term: Shareholder Activism -- Shareholder Activism Can Be Useful Depending on Its Purpose -- Activism and Abuse of Rights -- Is Shareholder Value a Threat to Employment? -- Dividends vs. Jobs -- Capital Markets, Politics, and Policies -- Finance Is Not Included in the Political Debate -- The Financing of Elections -- Democratic Institutions Funded by Interest Groups -- What About the World? -- Financial Markets and International Politics -- The Fight Against International Corruption -- The Challenge of Emerging Countries. The Chinese Case or the Mised Listing War -- International Cooperation of Regulators -- The Role of Taxation in Capital Inequalities -- Corporate Income Tax Stumbles Around the World: The Cost of Globalization -- Tax Inequality: Households Are the Cash Cow of the State -- Large Companies Do Not Pay Income Taxes -- A Major Shift in Corporate Taxation? -- Wealthy Tax Evasion -- An Undemocratic Coalition of Hostile Interests -- For a Democratic Reform of Financial Markets -- A Complete Change of Perspective -- A Change of Mentality Is Always a Challenge -- A Social and Solidarity-Based Capitalism Is Possible -- The Public Sector Must Reduce Its Dependency on Wall Street -- The State and Financial Contributions Corrupt the Decision-Making Process -- The Holy Alliance of Special Interests -- Eliminate Tax Deductibility of Political Contributions and Lobbying -- The Opacity of Political Contributions -- Refocusing Central Banks on Monetary Policy -- The Failure of the Custodians of Inflation -- A Politically Impossible Mission? -- Stop Printing Money -- Conflicts of Interest Require a Change in Governance: Central Banks as Supermarkets -- Transparency Is Not Optional -- The Supervision of Banks Needs to Be Transferred to an Independent Agency -- Redefining the Independence of Central Banks -- Central Banks Pretend to be Independent: Are They? -- Redeploying the Corporate World

on Its Mission -- Making Corporate Officers and Directors Personally Accountable -- Individualizing Responsibility -- Disconnecting Executive Compensation from the Stock Market -- Making Directors Accountable for Avoiding Difficult Questions and Not Sanctioning Management -- Separating the Functions of Chairman and CEO -- Shares Buybacks Are Strategic Decisions That Must Be Justified -- Where Are the Banking Regulators? -- Making Investors Accountable. Clarifying the Relationship with Issuers -- Promoting Investments Based on Sustainability Principles -- Promoting Fair Markets -- The Redistribution of Wealth -- Containing the Size of Capital Markets -- Limit the Use of Derivatives Through Capital Adequacy -- Treating Short Selling as Lending -- Rebalancing Labor and Capital Through Taxation -- Effectively Tax Large Companies -- Taxation of Capital Gains -- Promote a Tax on Financial Transactions? -- Fighting Fraud Facilitated by Financial Markets -- Reconciling Shareholders and Society -- A Social and Solidarity-Based Approach to Financial Markets -- Promoting a Long-Term Vision: Publishing a Three-Year Plan Every Year? -- Strengthening Financial Regulation -- Strengthen the Independence of Financial Regulation -- Financial Regulation Needs to be Robust -- Supervising Financial Innovation: The Deceiving Mask of Financial Engineering -- Regulating Cryptos -- The Special Purpose Acquisition Companies (SPACs) -- Promote Education, Information and Honest Communication -- Financial Education Must Be Part of Adolescent Education -- Establishing a True Financial Education of the General Public -- Financial Communication in the Age of Fake News -- Making the Media Responsible for Financial Information -- Rein in Financial Advertisement -- The Governance of Markets: An Opportunity for Europe -- Developing a Robust European Financial Market -- Establishing a European Model of Corporate Governance -- The Regionalization of Globalization Is an Opportunity for Europe -- Globalization Will Have to Evolve -- The European Capital Markets Union Is an Essential Ambition. Renewing the Threads of Trust in Finance: An Ethical Endeavor -- Telling the Truth to Regain Confidence -- Disconnect the Remuneration System from the Stock Price -- Recognize the Politicization of Financial Markets -- Ex Aequo and Bono: The Need for Democratic Equity -- There Is No Democratic Society Without Equity -- These Books Inspired me

Sommario/riassunto

"Offers a thought-provoking take on the inequalities in the modern capitalist system. Provides concrete solutions for democratizing financial markets and reintroducing morals and ethics. Exposes the incredible disconnect between financial markets and society."--
