

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910773603203321
Autore	Morton Timothy
Titolo	Hyposubjects : on becoming human // Timothy Morton, Dominic Boyer
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London : , : Open Humanities Press, , 2021
Edizione	[First edition.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (92 pages) : illustrations
Collana	CCC2 irreversibility
Disciplina	126
Soggetti	Philosophical anthropology Subject (Philosophy)
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	"Cover illustrations b Brijzha Boyer and Claire Morton ©2021" --back cover of book.
Nota di contenuto	A socially distanced preface -- Think small -- I Hyperobjects, narcissism, white boys, looping, teenagers, toys, games, squats, gut bacteria -- II OOO, dasein, bananas, phenomenology, children's books, space movies, revolutionary infrastructure, micronauts -- III Global village, dyslocation, right wing fantasies, finance capital, speculative realism, downloads, bliss-horror, role-playing games -- IV Subtraction, transcendence, excess, implosion, singularity, subscendence, unplugging, roombas -- V Subscendence, holism, dismantle the apocalypse, systems, androleukocene, desire, obesity, correlationism, smooth functioning, mental labor, scavengers -- Some suggested readings & viewings.
Sommario/riassunto	"The time of hypersubjects is ending. Their desert-apocalypse-fire-and-death cults aren't going to save them this time. Meanwhile the time of hyposubjects is just beginning. This text is an exercise in chaotic and flimsy thinking that will possibly waste your time. But it is the sincere effort of two reform-minded hypersubjects to decenter themselves and to help nurture hyposubjective humanity." --