1. Record Nr. UNINA9910777060503321 Autore Barney Jay B Titolo Resource-based theory: creating and sustaining competitive advantage // Jay B. Barney, Delwyn N. Clark Oxford;; New York:,: Oxford University Press,, 2007 Pubbl/distr/stampa ISBN 1-383-04222-5 1-281-16476-3 9786611164768 0-19-153512-5 1-4294-9189-2 Descrizione fisica 1 online resource (316 pages): illustrations Classificazione 85.10 Disciplina 658.4/012 Soggetti Strategic planning Industrial management Competition Lingua di pubblicazione Inglese Formato Materiale a stampa Livello bibliografico Monografia Note generali Description based upon print version of record. Nota di bibliografia Includes bibliographical references (pages 265-306) and index. Nota di contenuto Resource-based theory. The strategic management question and the emergence of resource-based theory; Strategic factor markets and competitive advantage: Firm resources and sustained competitive advantage -- RBT and organizational capabilities. Culture as a source of sustained competitive advantage; Trust as a source of sustained competitive advantage: Human resources as a source of sustained competitive advantage; Information technology as a source of sustained competitive advantage -- RBT and organizational strategies. Resource-based theory and vertical integration; Resource-based theory and corporate diversification; Resource-based theory and mergers and acquisitions -- RBT: the research frontier. Resourcebased theory: empirical research; The future of resource-based theory.

The 'Resource-Based View of the Firm' has emerged as one of the dominant perspectives used in strategic management. It addresses the fundamental research question of strategic management: Why it is that some firms persistently outperform others? Resource-Based Theory provides a considered overview of this theory from one of its key thinkers. - ;The 'Resource-Based View of the Firm' has emerged over the last fifteen years as one of the dominant perspectives used in strategic management. It addresses the fundamental research question of strategic management: Why it is that some firms persistentl

Sommario/riassunto