

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910777411103321
Autore	Ernest John
Titolo	Liberation historiography [[electronic resource] ] : African American writers and the challenge of history, 1794-1861 // John Ernest
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Chapel Hill, : University of North Carolina Press, c2004
ISBN	979-88-908785-7-1 0-8078-6353-X
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (442 p.)
Disciplina	973/.0496073
Soggetti	African Americans - History - To 1863 - Historiography African American historians - History - 18th century African American historians - History - 19th century Historiography - United States - History - 18th century Historiography - United States - History - 19th century
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. [389]-412) and index.
Nota di contenuto	The theater of history -- Scattered lives, scattered documents : writing liberation history -- Multiple lives and lost narratives : (auto)biography as history -- The assembly of history : orations and conventions -- Our warfare lies in the field of thought : the African American -- Press and the work of history -- Epilogue : William Wells Brown and the performance of history.
Sommario/riassunto	As the story of the United States was recorded in pages written by white historians, early-19th-century African American writers faced the task of piecing together a counterhistory. Here, John Ernest demonstrates that African Americans created a body of writing in which the spiritual, the historical and the political are inextricably connected.