

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910778055603321
Autore	Beloff Max <1913-1999.>
Titolo	The great powers [[electronic resource] ] : essays in twentieth century politics // Max Beloff
Pubbl/distr/stampa	New York, : Routledge, 2009
ISBN	1-135-22815-9 1-282-25622-X 9786612256226 0-203-87128-6
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (182 p.)
Collana	Routledge revivals
Disciplina	327.0904 327/.09/04
Soggetti	World politics - 1945-1989 World politics - 20th century
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Book Cover; Title; Copyright; Preface; Contents; Part I: The Problem for Historians; 1 Introduction; 2 The Frontiers of Political Analysis; 3 Historians in a Revolutionary Age; Part II: Problems of Integration; 4 Self-determination Reconsidered; 5 (a) European Association; (b) Britain and Europe; 6 Europe from Lorraine; 7 The 'Federal Solution' in its Application to Europe, Asia, and Africa; 8 Problems of International Government; 9 The Russian View of European Integration; Part III: America; 10 Tocqueville and the Americans; 11 Is there an Anglo-American Political Tradition? 12 Benjamin Franklin: International Statesman 13 The American Way in Foreign Policy; 14 The Predicament of American Foreign Policy; 15 Anti-Colonialism in American Foreign Policy; 16 Theodore Roosevelt and the British Empire; Index
Sommario/riassunto	This re-issued work, first published in 1959, is a collection of essays by British historian Max Beloff, designed to help us to understand and interpret the political problems of the twentieth century. The essays are divided into three key areas: the challenges and limitations of interpretation from a historian's perspective, the appropriate scale for political activity and organisation in the modern world, and the emergence of the United States of America as the most powerful nation on the planet.

---