

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910778131503321
Autore	Zietlow Rebecca E
Titolo	Enforcing equality [[electronic resource]] : Congress, the Constitution, and the protection of individual rights // Rebecca E. Zietlow
Pubbl/distr/stampa	New York, : New York University Press, c2006
ISBN	0-8147-8900-5 1-4294-8613-9
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (277 p.)
Disciplina	342.7308/5
Soggetti	Equality before the law - United States Civil rights - United States
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. 235-252) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Congress and rights before the civil war -- Belonging, protection and equality : the Reconstruction Congress -- Belonging and social citizenship : the New Deal and the Wagner Act -- To secure these rights : the 1964 Civil Rights Act -- The new parity debate -- Rights of belonging and popular constitutionalism -- Considering rights of belonging, moral values, and community.
Sommario/riassunto	In Enforcing Equality , Rebecca E. Zietlow assesses Congress's historical role in interpreting the Constitution and protecting the individual rights of citizens, provocatively challenging conventional wisdom that courts, not legislatures, are best suited for this role. Specifically focusing on what she calls "rights of belonging"-a set of positive entitlements that are necessary to ensure inclusion, participation, and equal membership in diverse communities-Zietlow examines three historical eras: Reconstruction, the New Deal era, and Civil Rights era of the 1960's. She reveals that in these key