

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910778288503321
Autore	Sangmpam S. N
Titolo	Comparing apples and mangoes [[electronic resource]] : the overpoliticized state in developing countries // S.N. Sangmpam
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Albany, : State University of New York Press, 2007
ISBN	0-7914-7999-4 1-4294-9826-9
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (347 p.)
Disciplina	320.9172/4
Soggetti	Political science Developing countries Politics and government Developing countries Economic conditions Developed countries Economic conditions Developed countries Politics and government
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Bibliographic Level Mode of Issuance: Monograph
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. 295-316) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Comparing apples and mangoes -- The mischaracterization of Third World experiences -- Setting the framework: comparing apples and mangoes -- Politics and overpoliticization -- Sins of universalism and particularism -- From the behavioral revolution to modernization theory -- Democratization by institutional fiat -- Universalism from the left -- Particularism and anti-third worldism -- Particularism in South America, Asia, and Africa -- Conclusion -- Overpoliticization: empirical and historical evidence -- Overpoliticized behaviors in democratic regimes -- Overpoliticized behaviors in authoritarian regimes -- Overpoliticized behaviors common to democratic and authoritarian regimes -- Overpoliticized behaviors in Western countries -- Conclusion: differences and similarities -- Overpoliticization : quantitative evidence -- Data and procedure -- Results and interpretation -- Conclusion: differences and similarities -- Understanding the overpoliticized state -- Political institutions and the state as effects of politics -- Compromise-resistant politics and the overpoliticized state -- The liberal democratic state as the conceptual contrast -- Basic hypotheses about the overpoliticized state -- What explains liberal compromise? -- What explains overpoliticization? -- Conclusion.
