

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910778328303321
Autore	Stratigakos Despina
Titolo	A women's Berlin [[electronic resource]] : building the modern city // Despina Stratigakos
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Minneapolis, : University of Minnesota Press, 2008
ISBN	0-8166-6644-X
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (260 p.)
Disciplina	720.82 720.8209432
Soggetti	Architecture and women - Germany - Berlin Space (Architecture) - Germany - Berlin Berlin (Germany) Social conditions 19th century Berlin (Germany) Social conditions 20th century
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Contents; Acknowledgments; Introduction: A Forgotten Metropolis; 1 Remapping Berlin: A Modern Woman's Guidebook to the City; 2 From Piccadilly to Potsdamer Strasse: The Politics of Clubhouse Architecture; 3 A Home of Our Own: Single Women and the New Domestic Architecture; 4 Exhibiting the New Woman: The Phenomenal Success of Die Frau in Haus und Beruf; 5 The Architecture of Social Work: Workers' Clubs, Social Welfare Institutions, and the Debate over Female Housing Inspectors; Epilogue: What a Woman Must Know about Berlin, Twenty Years Later; Notes; Bibliography; Index
Sommario/riassunto	Architectural History/Women's Studies"Despina Stratigakos takes us on a fascinating journey into a largely forgotten city at the heart of early twentieth-century metropolitan Berlin. Both imaginary and physical, A Women's Berlin is a space of agency in which women architects, designers, and patrons shaped not only a network of new institutions in the city but also a modern female subjectivity and urban identity for themselves as public citizens." -Eve Blau, Harvard University Around the beginning of the twentieth century, women began to claim Berlin as their own, expressing a vision of the Germ

