

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910778359503321
Autore	Tavard George H (George Henry), <1922->
Titolo	Vatican II and the ecumenical way [[electronic resource] /] / George H. Tavard
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Milwaukee, WI, : Marquette University Press, 2007
ISBN	0-87462-494-0 1-4356-1082-2
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (155 p.)
Collana	Marquette studies in theology ; ; no. 52
Disciplina	262.001/1
Soggetti	Christian union - Catholic Church
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	short title page; title page George H. Tavard Vatican II and the Ecumenical Way; copyright page; Contents; Foreword; Introduction The Way to Vatican II; Chapter 1 Ecumenical Itinerary; Chapter 2 The Decree on Ecumenism; Chapter 3 For a Theology of Dialogue; Chapter 4 Searching for Language; Chapter 5 Speaking Together; Chapter 6 For an Ecumenical Ecclesiology; Chapter 7 Progress and Models; Chapter 8 Problems of Reception; Conclusion Lessons of Ecumenism; Appendix Can Theology be Non-verbal?; Index
Sommario/riassunto	Appointed by John XXIII to the Pontifical Secretariat for the Promotion of the Unity of Christians, and then to the Vatican Council as theologian (peritus), George Tavard directly contributed to the writing of the Decree on Ecumenism and afterward served in major ecumenical dialogues, both in the U.S. and internationally. Born from this ecumenical experience and theological reflection and influenced by theology in France, where Henri de Lubac was one of his professors and he was personally acquainted with Jean Danielou and Yves Congar, the author will guide the reader through the problems, dif