

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910778594903321
Autore	Levine Robert <1939->
Titolo	Shock therapy for America's health care system [[electronic resource] ] : why comprehensive reform is needed / / Robert A. Levine
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Santa Barbara, Calif., : Praeger, c2009
ISBN	1-282-33376-3 9786612333767 0-313-38069-4
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (200 p.)
Disciplina	362.1/0425
Soggetti	Health care reform - United States
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. [162]-178) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Addressing the myths about health care reform -- Evolution of the American health care system : the changing physician, organized medicine, and efforts at health care reform -- Evolution of the American health care system : hospitals, the insurance industry, the pharmaceutical industry, and the medical device industry -- Problems with the current health care system -- Malpractice and medical negligence -- Comprehensive health care reform -- Proposals for U.S. health care reform and a brief survey of other nations' health care systems -- Obstacles to comprehensive reform.
Sommario/riassunto	From a veteran physician comes this remarkably clear-eyed look at what's wrong with how we administer and pay for health care and what can be done to fix it.   In Shock Therapy for the American Health Care System: Why Comprehensive Reform Is Needed, Dr. Robert Levine offers an easily understandable diagnosis of the problems plaguing our current health care infrastructure, with discussions that include the roles of various stakeholders-insurance companies, ""big pharma,"" hospitals, health care providers, and patients. He also dispels a number of myths designed to make voters leery of any reform