

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910779179003321
Autore	Betros Lance <1955->
Titolo	Carved from granite [[electronic resource] ] : West Point since 1902 // Lance Betros
Pubbl/distr/stampa	College Station, Tex., : Texas A&M University Press, 2012
ISBN	1-280-77232-8 9786613683090 1-60344-787-3
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (482 p.)
Collana	Williams-Ford Texas A&M University military history series ; ; no. 138
Disciplina	355.0071/173
Soggetti	Military education - United States - History - 20th century Military education - United States - History - 21st century Leadership - Study and teaching (Higher) - United States
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Old West Point: 1802-1902 -- A lion's mouth: Academy governance -- The corps starts here: admissions -- The Athenian academy: academics -- Sabers and goalposts: the physical program -- The Spartan academy: military training -- Toward a four-class system: leader development -- A corps' mission: building character -- Conclusion: character and intellect -- Appendix A. Superintendents -- Appendix B. Commandants -- Appendix C. Deans of the academic board -- Appendix D. Masters of the sword -- Appendix E. Graduate managers of athletics.
Sommario/riassunto	The United States Military Academy at West Point is one of America's oldest and most revered institutions. Founded in 1802, its first and only mission is to prepare young men-and, since 1976, young women-to be leaders of character for service as commissioned officers in the United States Army. West Point's success in accomplishing that mission has secured its reputation as the foremost leadership-development institution in the world. An Academy promotional poster says it this way: "At West Point, much of the history we teach was made by people we taught." Carved from Granite</

