

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910779252803321
Autore	Piccone Theodore J
Titolo	Catalysts for change [[electronic resource]] : how the UN's independent experts promote human rights // Ted Piccone
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Washington, D.C., : Brookings Institution Press, 2012
ISBN	1-280-99567-X 9786613767288 0-8157-2193-5
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (242 p.)
Disciplina	341.4/8
Soggetti	Human rights - International cooperation Human rights monitoring
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Introduction -- Who are the UN's independent human rights experts? -- Findings on effectiveness: country visits and communications -- Independence under the blue flag: relationship with the United Nations -- Style matters: the quality of special procedures work -- Bringing implementation home: the role of states -- Working with the independent sector -- The future of special procedures -- Appendixes: A. experts working group members -- B. HRC Resolution 5/1, institution building -- HRC resolution 5/2, code of conduct -- List of independent experts -- E. human Rights Council members -- F. communications and country visits: examples of impact -- G. breakdown of state responses to communications -- H. status of country visits -- I. Note on methodology note -- J. Brookings/OSJI/UPR-Watch summary recommendations.
Sommario/riassunto	"Examines the effectiveness of a key endeavor by the United Nations to monitor and influence human rights through a unique body of independent experts, appointed by countries to investigate, analyze, and report on the whole spectrum of human rights problems around the world"--Provided by publisher.