

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910780498903321
Autore	Alabaster Carol
Titolo	Developing an outstanding core collection [[electronic resource] ] : a guide for libraries / / Carol Alabaster
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Chicago, : American Library Association, 2002
ISBN	0-8389-9957-3
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (205 p.)
Disciplina	025.2/1
Soggetti	Public libraries - Collection development - United States Collection development (Libraries) - United States
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	PREFACE; The Philosophy of Adult Core Collections; Developing a Core Collection Policy Statement; Selecting a Core Collection; Creating and Maintaining Core Collections; Implementing the Core Collection; Bibliography: Core Selection Resources and Works Cited; Sample Core Lists with Selection Criteria and Sources; INDEX;
Sommario/riassunto	"Creating an adult core collection for a public library is an extremely complex and challenging endeavor."—from the Preface. This practical handbook offers step-by-step instructions on not only how to build a core collection from scratch but also how to maintain and revitalize an existing collection. Building on the basics, this comprehensive guide to core collection development offers ready-to-use advice on developing a collection policy statement, selecting user-appropriate sources, and ultimately serving your constituency with the best possible collection. With an eye toward quality and y