

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910780847503321
Autore	Carew Michael G
Titolo	Becoming the arsenal [[electronic resource]] : the American industrial mobilization for World War II, 1938-1942 / / Michael G. Carew
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Lanham, : University Press of America, c2010
ISBN	1-282-47983-0 9786612479830 0-7618-4670-0
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (341 p.)
Disciplina	330.9
Soggetti	Industrial mobilization - United States - History - 20th century World War, 1939-1945 - Economic aspects - United States United States Economic conditions 1918-1945 United States Politics and government 1933-1945 United States Economic policy 1933-1945
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Becoming the Arsenal; Contents; Tables; Preface; Part One: THE MARCH TO WAR, 1939-41; Chapter One: Introduction; Chapter Two: The Specter of World War I Industrial Mobilization; Chapter Three: The Reality of the Empty Arsenal; Chapter Four: Building an Economic-Military Consensus; Part Two: WORLD WAR I AND THE GROWTH OF A MILITARY-INDUSTRIAL ECONOMY; Chapter Five: American Economic Evolution, 1900-1950; Chapter Six: World War I and Military Mobilization; Chapter Seven: Military Tradition and Modern War; Chapter Eight: Planning Industrial Mobilization, 1920-1939 Chapter Nine: The Economic and Industrial Platform, 1941-The General American Economy Chapter Ten: The Struggle to Define Preparedness and the Victory Plan; Chapter Eleven: The Economic Consequences of Pearl Harbor; Chapter Twelve: The Military-Civilian Contention; Chapter Thirteen: Becoming the Arsenal; Bibliography; Index
Sommario/riassunto	This book discusses government and private sector roles in American economy. Focusing on the mobilization of American economy against the threat of Axis ascendancy in Word War II, Carew places the mobilization in its political - economic context and evaluates its performance in terms of prevailing military and political realities.
