

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910781347003321
Autore	Thangasamy Andrew
Titolo	State policies for undocumented immigrants [[electronic resource] ] : policy-making and outcomes in the U.S., 1998-2005 // Andrew Thangasamy
Pubbl/distr/stampa	El Paso [Tex.], : LFB Scholarly Pub., 2010
ISBN	1-59332-637-8
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (262 p.)
Collana	The new Americans : recent immigration and American society
Disciplina	325.7309/0511
Soggetti	Noncitizens - Government policy - United States - States
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. 235-252) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Comparative immigration studies and U.S. sub-national state policy making -- A nested analysis of state policy outcomes for undocumented immigrants -- Lowering barriers to higher education for undocumented immigrants -- Licensing undocumented immigrant drivers in the states, 1998-2005 -- Pre-natal health care for undocumented immigrant women -- Framing the problem: undocumented immigrants and issues in the states -- Explaining progressive state policy making for undocumented immigrants in the U. S. states.
Sommario/riassunto	Thangasamy examines state level policy making for undocumented immigrants in the United States between 1998 and 2005. This period saw heightened state legislative activity regarding access to higher education and the availability of driver's licenses and health benefits for undocumented immigrants. Some states chose to extend these benefits to undocumented immigrants while some did not. Thangasamy seeks to explain the variation in state responses. He tested partisanship, interest group politics, bureaucratic politics, and the role of race and ethnicity to explain policy variation. While, neither