

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910781668803321
Autore	Bronner Simon J
Titolo	Killing tradition [[electronic resource]] : inside hunting and animal rights controversies // Simon J. Bronner
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Lexington, Ky., : University Press of Kentucky, c2008
ISBN	0-8131-3500-1 1-283-23239-1 9786613232397 0-8131-2641-X
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (321 p.)
Disciplina	179/.3
Soggetti	Animal rights - United States Hunting - United States Hunting - Great Britain
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. 257-290) and index.
Nota di contenuto	; Prologue. Taking aim -- Ritual and controversy at deer camp -- The pigeon shoot controversy -- The hare-coursing controversy -- ; Epilogue. Future shot.
Sommario/riassunto	Is hunting a bygone activity, out of touch with modern life; or is it valuable as an escape from it? Does hunting promote violence, not just to animals, but to humans as well? Is hunting, with its connection to the land and frontier experience, a heritage worth preserving? These questions form the foundations for discussion in Killing Tradition: Inside Hunting and Animal Rights Controversies. Simon J. Bronner sorts through the issues and goes behind the headlines to examine the basis of this hotly-charged subject. Using case studies as evidence, Bronner looks at a topic at the center of mod