

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910781835903321
Autore	Horne Gerald C
Titolo	Cold War in a Hot Zone [[electronic resource]] : The United States Confronts Labor and Independence Struggles in the British West Indies
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Philadelphia, : Temple University Press, 2008
ISBN	1-281-24303-5 9786611243036 1-59213-629-X
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (273 p.)
Disciplina	331.8809729/09171241 331.880972909171 331.88097290917124
Soggetti	Labor movement - West Indies, British - History Labor movement United States - Foreign relations - West Indies, British West Indies, British - Foreign relations - United States West Indies, British - History - Autonomy and independence movements Labor movement - History - West Indies, British Labor & Workers' Economics Business & Economics West Indies, British History Autonomy and independence movements United States Foreign relations West Indies, British West Indies, British Foreign relations United States
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di contenuto	CONTENTS; Introduction; CHAPTER ONE Early Organizing; CHAPTER TWO Big Islands/Big Problems; CHAPTER THREE The Labor of War; CHAPTER FOUR When Labor Organizes; CHAPTER FIVE Militant Jamaica; CHAPTER SIX Washington Confronts the West Indies; CHAPTER SEVEN Will Labor Rule?; CHAPTER EIGHT Cold War in a Hot Zone; Photo gallery follows page 126; CHAPTER NINE The Left Retreats; CHAPTER TEN Small Islands/Huge Impact; CHAPTER ELEVEN Militant British Guiana;

CHAPTER TWELVE Barbados vs. British Guiana; Conclusion; Epilogue; References; Index

Sommario/riassunto

Focused on the region as a whole and drawing from archives in Jamaica, Trinidad, Barbados, Guyana, St. Kitts, Antigua, the U.S. and U. K., this book details the region's impact on the U.S. (particularly on Jim Crow), as it charts the British Empire's retreat in the face of a challenge from Washington.
