

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910782207603321
Titolo	Co-production and personalisation in social care [[electronic resource]] : changing relationships in the provision of social care // edited by Susan Hunter and Pete Ritchie
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London, : Jessica Kingsley Publishers, 2007
ISBN	1-281-73375-X 9786611733759 1-84642-721-5
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (171 p.)
Collana	Research highlights in social work ; ; 49
Altri autori (Persone)	HunterSusan RitchiePete
Disciplina	361.25
Soggetti	Social planning - Citizen participation Social service - Citizen participation
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	FRONT COVER; Co-Production and Personalisation in Social Care; Changing Relationships in the Provision of Social Care; Contents; 1. Introduction: With, Not To: Models of Co-Production in Social Welfare; 2. It's about More than the Money: Local Area Coordination Supporting People with Disabilities; 3. Co-Production through Encouragement: The Braveheart Project; 4. Co-Production in Supported Housing: KeyRing Living Support Networks and Neighbourhood Networks; 5. Co-Production: Support for Self-Employment; 6. Family Group Conferencing and 'Partnership' 7. Person-Centred Planning as Co-Production8. Restoring 'Stakeholder' Involvement in Justice; 9. Recovery in Psychosis: Moments and Levels of Collaboration; Endnote; THE CONTRIBUTORS; SUBJECT INDEX; AUTHOR INDEX; BACK COVER;
Sommario/riassunto	Co-Production is a model of practice in which service providers work with service users in the provision of social care services - in effect, a working partnership. This book explores the theory and practice of this developing innovative practice in social work and related fields. Examples of methods and services designed on co-production principles are given by the experienced contributors, including housing initiatives where the users, rather than professionals, provide support to each other, the development of local area co-ordination as a service response to dilemmas of geography, and whet
