

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910782892403321
Autore	Manning Corinne
Titolo	Bye-bye Charlie [[electronic resource] ] : stories from the vanishing world of Kew Cottages // Corinne Manning
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Sydney, : University of New South Wales Press, 2008
ISBN	1-74223-047-4
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (262 p.)
Disciplina	362.2 362.385099451
Soggetti	Children with mental disabilities - Institutional care - Australia - Kew (Vic.) - History People with mental disabilities - Institutional care - Australia - Kew (Vic.) - History People with mental disabilities - Services for - Australia - Kew (Vic.) - History
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. 250-252) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Contents; Foreword; Acknowledgments; Timeline; Introduction; The Journey to Kew; A New World; Leaving Kew; Notes; Bibliography; Index
Sommario/riassunto	Kew Cottages has long been an iconic symbol for many Australians. Opened in 1887 by the Victorian Government, it was Australia's first and largest specialised institution for people with intellectual disability. Over its 121-year history, Kew Cottages often struggled to provide a high level of care for its residents. Persistent overcrowding, inadequate funding, and government and public apathy, resulted in many residents enduring lives of hardship and neglect. Bye-Bye Charlie is a rare glimpse into the world of Kew Cottages. Combining oral testimony from a range of people including residents,