Record Nr. UNINA9910783703503321 Autore McCargo Duncan Titolo Media and politics in Pacific Asia / / Duncan McCargo London;; New York:,: RoutledgeCurzon,, 2003 Pubbl/distr/stampa ISBN 1-134-56864-9 0-415-23375-5 1-134-56865-7 1-280-04945-6 0-203-40254-5 Descrizione fisica 1 online resource (196 p.) Politics in Asia series Collana Classificazione 89.56 05.30 Disciplina 302.23/091823 Soggetti Mass media - Political aspects - Pacific Area Pacific Area Politics and government Lingua di pubblicazione Inglese Formato Materiale a stampa Livello bibliografico Monografia Note generali Description based upon print version of record. Nota di bibliografia Includes bibliographical references (p. [165]-176) and index. Nota di contenuto Introduction: politics and media in Pacific Asia -- Media in times of crisis: media and democratic transitions in Southeast Asia -- Media in peacetime? Press and television in Japan -- Media as an agent of stability? Suharto's Indonesia -- Media in a time of transition: Hong Kong -- International media and domestic politics: tales from Thailand. Sommario/riassunto Media and Politics in Pacific Asia is the first book to provide a detailed account of the political influences exerted by both domestic and international media in Pacific Asia. Duncan McCargo argues that the media are political actors and institutions in their own right, and that as such they can play a variety of political roles, some of which support processes of demographic transition and consolidation, and some which do just the opposite. Drawing on first-hand research in Hong Kong, Indonesia, Japan and Thailand - and employing comparative examples that include Burma, Mal