Sommario/riassunto	The aims of the present study are to describe the modern forms of cybercrime and analyze the substantive computer-specific offenses of the Austrian Penal Code by the means of specialist literature and - as available - relevant judgments. Based on the debate about the terms "cybercrime" or "computer criminal law" and the term of data in the Austrian Penal Code, the specific substantive computer-specific offenses, including the penal provision of the Data Protection Code concerning the criminal protection of personal data, are presented and discussed systematically.

Sommario/riassunto

This book raises interesting questions about the process of democratization in Hong Kong. It asks why democracy has been so long delayed when Hong Kong's level of socio-economic development has become so high. It relates democratization in Hong Kong to wider studies of the democratization process elsewhere, and it supplements the received wisdom - that democracy was delayed because of colonial rule and by the opposition of China - with new thinking, for example, that its quasi-bureaucratic authoritarian political structure vested power in bureaucrats who refused to have top-down democratizatio
