

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910783977503321
Autore	Biger Gideon
Titolo	The boundaries of modern Palestine, 1840-1947 // Gideon Biger
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London : , : RoutledgeCurzon, , 2004
ISBN	1-135-76651-7 1-135-76652-5 1-280-10393-0 0-203-30952-9
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (268 p.)
Collana	RoutledgeCurzon studies in Middle Eastern history ; ; 1
Disciplina	956.94 956.9404
Soggetti	Palestine History Palestine Boundaries History Palestine Foreign relations Palestine History 1799-1917 Palestine History 1917-1948
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Previously published in Hebrew by Ben Gurion University Press.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. [244]-248) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Book Cover; Title; Contents; List of illustrations; Preface; Introduction: the boundary and its role in historical-political existence; The delimitation of the country at the end of the Ottoman period; The allocation stage: World War I and the division of the Middle East; The southern boundary during the British period; The northern boundary: from allocation to delimitation; The northern boundary: demarcation and administration; The eastern boundary; The partition plans, 1937-1947; Conclusion; Notes; Bibliography; Index
Sommario/riassunto	Boundary limitation is a crucial issue in the Middle East, and the boundaries marked out during the years 1840 to 1947 are still one of the major issues in today's political discussions concerning Israel and its surrounding countries. This book, which is based on extensive archival research, deals with the first stage of the delimitation of the boundaries of modern Palestine, between the years 1840 and 1947. During this period, the boundaries of Palestine were staked out by foreign, imperial forces (Britain, France and the Ottoman Empire) which placed them according to their desires, without
