

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910785453203321
Autore	Axinn Sidney
Titolo	Sacrifice and value [[electronic resource] ] : a Kantian interpretation // Sidney Axinn
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Lanham, MD, : Lexington Books, c2010
ISBN	1-282-92182-7 9786612921827 0-7391-4055-8
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (222 p.)
Disciplina	170
Soggetti	Life Values Sacrifice
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Preface; Chapter One; Introduction; Chapter Two; Sacrifice and the Creation of Inherent Value; Chapter Three; Care and Sacrifice; Chapter Four; Love; Chapter Five; Religion and Sacrifice; Chapter Six; Patriotism; Chapter Seven; Business and Other Loyalties <sup>1</sup> ; Chapter Eight; Friendship; Chapter Nine; Gifts; Chapter Ten; Pluralism versus Fanaticism: The Need for More than One Absolute Value <sup>1</sup> ; Chapter Eleven; Kant's Use of Sacrifice; Chapter Twelve; Relations to Certain Other Theories and Issues; Chapter Thirteen; Conclusions; Bibliography; About the Author
Sommario/riassunto	We create value for ourselves by making sacrifices. In Sacrifice and Value , Sidney Axinn presents the role of sacrifice in the work of many figures in the history of Philosophy. A novel feature is the attention given to Kant's use of sacrifice, and the way this changes the usual view of the Categorical Imperative, and Kant's concept of value.