

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910785702903321
Autore	Mendilow Jonathan
Titolo	Money, corruption, and political competition in established and emerging democracies [[electronic resource] /] / edited by Jonathan Mendilow
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Lanham, MD, : Lexington Books, c2012
ISBN	1-283-63918-1 0-7391-7076-7
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (216 p.)
Altri autori (Persone)	MendilowJonathan
Disciplina	364.1/323
Soggetti	Political corruption Political corruption - Prevention Campaign funds Political parties
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Money, Corruption, and Political Competition in Established and Emerging Democracies; Contents; Preface; 1 Introduction: Political Finance, Corruption, and the Future of Democracy; 2 Do Parties Spend Too Much?; 3 Parties as Competitive Public Utilities? The Impact of the Regulatory System of Political Financing on the Party System in France; 4 Campaign Financing and Politicians' Careers: A Dynamic Perspective; 5 The MSG Effects of Public Campaign Funding; 6 Political Finance, Urban Development, and Political Corruption in Spain 7 Can Public Funding Overcome Corruption? A View from the Philippines 8 Politics of Exclusion: Public Party Funding and Electoral Corruption in Zimbabwe; 9 Overcoming Electoral Corruption: The Case of Bangladesh; Index; About the Contributors
Sommario/riassunto	Money, Corruption, and Competition in Established and Emerging Democracies, edited by Jonathan Mendilow, investigates the effectiveness of public subsidization of political competition as an anti-corruption mechanism. Can it substitute practices corrosive to democracy, such as plutocratic funding, or the outright "sale" of public policy? What does the long term experience with public funding in established democracies tell us about hidden "costs " and unforeseen consequences, especially in emerging democracies? In a politically divisi
