1. Record Nr. UNINA9910785983903321 Autore Rowse Tim <1951-> Titolo Rethinking social justice: from 'peoples' to 'populations' / / Tim Rowse Pubbl/distr/stampa Canberra, Australia:,: Aboriginal Studies Press,, 2012 ©2012 ISBN 1-922059-17-X Descrizione fisica 1 online resource (273 p.) Collana Aboriginal Studies Press Disciplina 994.230049915 Soggetti Aboriginal Australians - Cultural assimilation Aboriginal Australians - Social conditions Social justice - Australia Reparations for historical injustices - Australia Australia Government policy Lingua di pubblicazione Inglese Formato Materiale a stampa Livello bibliografico Monografia Note generali Description based upon print version of record. Nota di bibliografia Includes bibliographical references and index. Cover; About the Author; Copyright; Contents; Foreword; Acronyms & Nota di contenuto Abbreviations; Introduction; Part I - Recognising 'populations' and 'peoples'; 1. Recognising 'peoples' and 'populations'; Part II - Evoking people-hood; 2. Hasluck and Elkin; 3. Strehlow damns Coombs; 4. The South Australian land rights debate of 1966; 5. The politics of enumerating the Stolen Generations; Part III - Critical reflections on political capacity: 6. The changing cultural constitution of the Indigenous sector; 7. The ambivalence of Helen Hughes; Part IV -Thinking historically about 1967-76 8. Noel Pearson's economic history 9. Peter Sutton and the historical roots of suffering; 10. The Coombs experiment; Part V - The appeal of quantification; 11. The Australian Reconciliation Barometer; Notes; References: Index In the early 1970's, Australian governments began to treat Aborigines Sommario/riassunto and Torres Strait Islanders as ""peoples"" with capacities for selfgovernment. Forty years later, confidence in Indigenous selfdetermination has been eroded by accounts of Indigenous pathology, misplaced policy optimism, and persistent socio-economic gaps. This record accounts for this shift by arguing that Australian thinking about the Indigenous is a continuing, unresolvable tussle between the ideas of ""peoples"" and ""population."" Offering snapshots of moments in the last 40 years in these tensions are palpable - from...