

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910786200603321
Autore	Ong Walter J.
Titolo	Fighting for Life : Contest, Sexuality, and Consciousness // Walter J. Ong
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Ithaca, N.Y. : , : Cornell University Press, , [2012] ©1981
ISBN	0-8014-6628-8 0-8014-6629-6
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (240 p.)
Disciplina	128
Soggetti	Human beings Competition (Psychology) Sex differences (Psychology) Consciousness Life Sociobiology
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di contenuto	Front matter -- Contents -- Preface -- Part One. Backgrounds -- 1. Contest and Other Adversatives -- Part Two. Patterns of Adversativeness -- 2. Contest and Sexual Identity -- 3. Separation and Self-Giving: Pietà and Quixote -- Part Three. Past. Present. and Future -- 4. Academic and Intellectual Arenas -- 5. Some Present Issues -- 6. Contest and Interiorization -- References -- Index
Sommario/riassunto	"Fighting for Life is a book about contest, the agonía of the Greek arena, and its roots in male life, especially academia. Ong describes this work as an 'excavation' which was prompted by his previous explorations of such areas as the characteristics of oral and literate cultures, Peter Ramus and his 16th-century intellectual milieu, and the early dominance and more recent decline of classical rhetoric in education. In Fighting for Life, he weaves the results of a year's study of agonistic structures running through the biological, social, and noetic worlds. Describing his text as an 'essay in noobiology,' the biological roots of human consciousness, Ong claims that 'contest has been a major factor in organic evolution and it turns out to have been a major, and seemingly essential, factor in intellectual development.' . . . The work is a valuable synthesis of a wide body of research and theory."- Rhetoric Society Quarterly
