1. Record Nr.   UNINA9910786339103321

   Autore   Choucri Nazli

   Titolo   Cyberpolitics in international relations / / Nazli Choucri

   Pubbl/distr/stampa   Cambridge, Mass., : MIT Press, ©2012

   ISBN   1-283-83470-7
                        0-262-30517-8

   Descrizione fisica   1 online resource (321 p.)

   Disciplina   327.10285/4678

   Soggetti   Internet and international relations
                        Technology and international relations
                        Internet - Political aspects
                        Information technology - Political aspects

   Lingua di pubblicazione   Inglese

   Formato   Materiale a stampa

   Livello bibliografico   Monografia

   Note generali   Description based upon print version of record.

   Nota di bibliografia Includes bibliographical references and index.

   Nota di contenuto   Contents; Acknowledgments; I New Challenges to International Relations Theory and Policy; 1 Introduction; 2 Theory Matters in International Relations; 3 Cyberspace: New Domain of International Relations; 4 Cyber Content: Leveraging Knowledge and Networking; II
                        Cyber Venues and Levels of Analysis; 5 The State System: National Profiles and Cyber Propensities; 6 The International System: Cyber Conflicts and Threats to Security; 7 The International System:
                        Cyberpolitics of Cooperation and Collaboration; 8 The Global System:
                        Pressures of Growth and Expansion
                        9 Cyberspace and Sustainability: Convergence on the Global Agenda10
                        Conclusion: Lateral Realignment and the Future of Cyberpolitics; Notes;
                        References; Index

   Sommario/riassunto   An examination of the ways cyberspace is changing both the theory and the practice of international relations.