

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910787028503321
Autore	Meadors David C. <1966->
Titolo	American public religion in Frankfurter and Scalia's opinions / / David C. Meadors
Pubbl/distr/stampa	El Paso, Texas : , : LFB Scholarly Publishing LLC, , 2014 ©2014
ISBN	1-59332-791-9
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (220 p.)
Collana	Law and Society : Recent Scholarship
Disciplina	342.7308/52
Soggetti	Church and state - United States Religious observances on public property - Law and legislation - United States Religious law and legislation - United States
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	American public religion in the opinions of Felix Frankfurter and Antonin Scalia -- American public religion and ceremonial deism -- Felix Frankfurter and American public religion -- American public religion : Frankfurter's no establishment cases -- American public religion and Antonin Scalia -- Scalia's no establishment opinions -- Frankfurter, Scalia and public religion.
Sommario/riassunto	Meadors demonstrates weaknesses in the originalist methodology for interpreting the religion clauses of the First Amendment. He concludes that even though courts have an important role to play in protecting religious liberty via the First Amendment this protection needs supplementation by robust advocacy among citizens and mediating institutions in the democratic process. His thesis is that Felix Frankfurter and Antonin Scalia found different forms of American public religion constitutional in their religion clause jurisprudences. Both applied originalist methodology in their religion clause o