

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910787052103321
Autore	Farrow Anne
Titolo	The logbooks : Connecticut's slave ships and human memory // Anne Farrow ; designed by Eric M. Brooks
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Middletown, Connecticut : , : Wesleyan University Press, , 2014 ©2014
ISBN	0-8195-7306-X
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (217 p.)
Collana	Driftless Connecticut Series Book
Disciplina	306.3/6209746
Soggetti	Slave trade - Connecticut - History Slavery - Connecticut Collective memory - New England Bunce Island (Sierra Leone) History
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references.
Nota di contenuto	Cover; The Logbooks; Title; Copyright; Dedication; Contents; Preface; ONE: RECOVERING THE STORY; Cleared for Africa; Shadows on the Wall; Creating a Record; "How Did You Find Me?"; TWO: THE HAUNTED LAND; Meeting the Slave Traders; Another Century, Not My Own; The Past in Dreams; History for an Abandoned Place; The Screaming Man; The Story of a Stone; The Slaughterhouse; THREE: TROUBLE IN MIND; A Book with Many Bookmarks; A Platform for Memory; The Pain That Survives; The Fragile Power; History That Won't End ; Color photographs follow page ; FOUR: A HISTORY THAT DOESN'T "FIT"; Back to Africa To Live in Peril on the SeaNot a Word but a World; The Slave Trade's Men in Full; FIVE: SEPARATIONS; A Visit to Madina; This Far, and No Further; Legacy; Lost and Found; Our Choice Is the Truth or Nothing; Afterword; Acknowledgments; Notes; Selected Bibliography; Reading Guide
Sommario/riassunto	Three long-neglected logbooks from Connecticut's slave trade raise questions about memory and collective forgetting