

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910787101803321
Autore	Hoppens Robert James
Titolo	The China problem in postwar Japan [[electronic resource] ] : Japanese national identity and Sino-Japanese relations // Robert Hoppens
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London : , : Bloomsbury Academic, an imprint of Bloomsbury Publishing Plc, , 2015
ISBN	1-4742-9864-8 1-4742-1985-3 1-4725-7548-2
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (313 p.)
Collana	SOAS studies in modern and contemporary Japan
Disciplina	327.5205109/045
Soggetti	Nationalism - Japan - History - 20th century China Foreign relations Japan Japan Foreign relations 1945-1989 Japan Foreign relations China Japan Politics and government 1945-1989
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Part I. The China problem in postwar Japan, 1945-1970 -- The China problem in postwar Japanese foreign policy -- The China problem in the Japanese discourse on national identity -- Part II. The Nixon shock & the normalization of relations, 1971-1972 -- Diplomacy from the Nixon shock through the normalization of relations -- The China problem in a new era -- Part III. Anti-hegemony, 1973-1976 -- Anti-hegemony : Japan and the Sino-Soviet Cold War -- Japan's China problem in a time of crisis -- Part IV. Peace & cooperation, 1977-1979 -- From the peace treaty to economic cooperation -- Triumphalism and alienation : the China problem transformed -- Epilogue & conclusion.
Sommario/riassunto	"The 1970s were a period of dramatic change in relations between Japan and the People's Republic of China (PRC). The two countries established diplomatic relations for the first time, forged close economic ties and reached political agreements that still guide and constrain relations today. This book delivers a history of this foundational period in Sino-Japanese relations. It presents an up-to-date diplomatic history of the relationship but also goes beyond this to argue that Japan's relations with China must be understood in the context of a larger "China problem" that was inseparable from a domestic contest to define Japanese national identity. The China Problem in Postwar Japan challenges some common assertions or assumptions about the role of Japanese national identity in postwar Sino-Japanese relations, showing how the history of Japanese relations with China in the 1970s is shaped by the strength of Japanese national identity, not its weakness."--Bloomsbury Publishing.

---