

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910787859203321
Autore	Heilmann Sebastian
Titolo	China's Foreign Political and Economic Relations : An Unconventional Global Power
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Lanham, : Rowman & Littlefield Publishers, 2014
ISBN	1-4422-1303-5
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (267 pages)
Collana	State & Society in East Asia.
Altri autori (Persone)	SchmidtDirk H
Disciplina	327.51
Soggetti	China -- Foreign economic relations China -- Foreign relations National security -- China National security - China
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di contenuto	Contents; List of Tables, Figures, and Boxes; List of Acronyms; Preface; Chapter 1: Introduction; Chapter 2: Foreign Policy Decision Making; Chapter 3: Reorientations in China's Foreign Policy; Chapter 4: China's Security Policy; Chapter 5: China in the World Economy; Chapter 6: China's Role in International Environmental and Climate Policy; Chapter 7: China and International Human Rights Policy; Chapter 8: The Taiwan Issue; Chapter 9: China's Relations with Japan and Korea; Chapter 10: Sino-American Relations; Chapter 11: China's Relations with Europe; Chapter 12: Empire and Guerrilla Sources and LiteratureAppendix; Index; About the Authors
Sommario/riassunto	This balanced and thoughtful book presents a thorough analysis of the dynamics of China's foreign political and economic relations. Sebastian Heilmann and Dirk H. Schmidt consider China's view of the world; its foreign policy decision-making process; its major bilateral relations; and key policy issues such as trade and investment, security, human rights, and climate change. The authors also assess how China's often unconventional and hidden activities underlying its global expansion challenge Western predominance. By explicitly addressing controversies and conflicts and providing

