

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910787906603321
Autore	Lee Philip <1975->
Titolo	Academic freedom at American universities : constitutional rights, professional norms, and contractual duties // Philip Lee
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Lanham, Maryland : , : Lexington Books, , 2015 ©2015
ISBN	1-4985-0102-8 1-4985-0101-X
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (180 p.)
Disciplina	344.73/078
Soggetti	Academic freedom - United States College teachers - Legal status, laws, etc - United States Labor contract - United States
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Contents; Acknowledgments; Introduction; 1 The Crisis of Academic Freedom in the Modern University and the Founding of the AAUP; 2 The AAUP's First Policy Declaration in 1915 and Its Struggle to Defend Academic Freedom; 3 The AAUP's Seminal 1940 Statement and Judicially Defined Academic Freedom During the McCarthy Era; 4 Modern Constitutional Conceptions of Academic Freedom; 5 The Limitations of Constitutionally Based Professorial Freedom; 6 Contract Law as an Alternative Foundation for Professorial Freedom; Conclusion; Bibliography; Index; About the Author
Sommario/riassunto	Lee argues that the dominant constitutional analysis of academic freedom is insufficient to protect the full range of academic freedom interests that have emerged over time. As an alternative to an exclusively First Amendment foundation for this freedom, it proposes for a contract-law-based conception specifically for professors.