Sommario/riassunto

While U.S. Supreme Court judges are studied in detail, little information is available about the magistrates who function daily in the other courts of the world at the public level. This volume assembles a collection of eleven interviews developed by 17 different interviewers of magistrates around the world. The subjects of these interviews administer justice in Bosnia and Herzegovina; South Australia; Western Australia; Slovenia; British Columbia, and Delhi, India. Also interviewed are magistrates from Missouri, Florida, and Louisiana courts--
