

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910788055703321
Titolo	Institutional foundations of federated defense // authors, Stephanie Sanok Kostro, Rhys McCormick ; project directors, Kathleen H. Hicks, T. J. Cipoletti
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Washington, DC : , : Center for Strategic & International Studies, , 2015 ©2015
ISBN	1-4422-4064-4
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (vi, 17 pages)
Collana	CSIS Reports
Disciplina	355.033573
Soggetti	National security - United States National security - International cooperation Security, International Arms transfers - United States Export controls - United States Technology transfer - United States United States Military relations
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Bibliographic Level Mode of Issuance: Monograph "A report of the Federated Defense Project."
Nota di contenuto	Introduction The context for institutional foundations The institutional foundations of a federated defense : five pillars Overarching challenges Recommendations
Sommario/riassunto	"This report focuses on the institutional foundations that enable -- or, at times, hinder -- federated approaches to defense. Successful defense collaboration in a budget-constrained environment is predicated on the ability and willingness of the United States to provide assistance and/or equipment to allies and partners. Accordingly, the report describes the context for refining U.S. institutional foundations, as well as findings in key issue areas, such as priorities/strategic guidance, foreign military sales, export controls, technology security and foreign disclosure, and acquisitions and requirements processes. The report also includes actionable recommendations on how the

United States and its partners could integrate their defense capabilities in support of shared interests"--Publisher's web site.
