

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910788529503321
Titolo	The new Latin American left [[electronic resource]] : cracks in the empire // edited by Jeffery R. Webber and Barry Carr
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Lanham, : Rowman & Littlefield Publishers, 2012
ISBN	1-283-62901-1 0-7425-5759-6 9786613941466
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (403 p.)
Collana	Critical currents in Latin American perspective series
Classificazione	POL042020POL009000SOC053000
Altri autori (Persone)	WebberJeffery R CarrBarry
Disciplina	303.48/4
Soggetti	Social movements - Latin America Social change - Latin America Social conflict - Latin America Latin America Politics and government
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Contents; Chapter 1. Introduction: The Latin American Left in Theory and Practice; Part I. THEORETICAL ISSUES; Chapter 2. Socialist Strategies in Latin America; Chapter 3. The Latin American Left in the Face of the New Imperialism; Chapter 4. Neoliberal Class Formation(s): The Informal Proletariat and "New" Workers' Organizations in Latin America; Chapter 5. Revolution in Times of Neoliberal Hegemony: The Political Strategy of the MST in Brazil and the EZLN in Mexico; Chapter 6. Barrio Women and Popular Politics in Chavez's Venezuela; Part II. CASE STUDIES OF THE NEW LATIN AMERICAN LEFT Chapter 7. From Left-Indigenous Insurrection to Reconstituted Neoliberalism in Bolivia: Political Economy, Indigenous Liberation, and Class Struggle, 2000-2011 Chapter 8. Venezuela: An Electoral Road to Twenty-First-Century Socialism?; Chapter 9. Ecuador: Indigenous Struggles and the Ambiguities of Electoral Power; Chapter 10. Crisis and Recomposition in Argentina; Chapter 11. Trade Unions, Social Conflict, and the Political Left in Present-Day Brazil: Between Breach and Compromise; Chapter 12. Neoliberal Authoritarianism, the

"Democratic Transition," and the Mexican Left

Chapter 13. The Chilean Left after 1990: An Izquierda Permitida
Championing Transnational Capital, a Historical Left Ensnared in the Past, and a New Radical Left in Gestation
Chapter 14. From Guerrillas to Government: The Continued Relevance of the Central American Left;
Chapter 15. The Overthrow of a Moderate and the Birth of a Radicalizing Resistance: The Coup against Manuel Zelaya and the History of Imperialism and Popular Struggle in Honduras; Index

Sommario/riassunto

This provocative, multidisciplinary work explores the dramatic resurgence of the Left in Latin America since the late 1990s. Offering a comprehensive account of the complexities and nuances of the shifting political tides in the region, the book provides both a theoretical framework for assessing the state of the Left and a set of country case studies highlighting key movements, successes, and failures. Working from a range of critical perspectives, the contributors consider the Left's hopes, aims, and prospects, as well as its contradictions and fissures. As the first book to systematically c
