

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910789164503321
Titolo	Different paths to curbing corruption [[electronic resource] /] / edited by Jon S.T. Quah
Pubbl/distr/stampa	United Kingdom : , : Emerald, , 2013 ©2013
ISBN	1-78190-731-5
Edizione	[First edition.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (272 p.)
Collana	Research in public policy analysis and management, , 0732-1317 ; ; v. 23
Altri autori (Persone)	QuahJon S. T
Disciplina	364.1323
Soggetti	Political Science - Public Policy - General Political Science - General Political corruption Corruption - Prevention Corruption investigation Corruption - China - Hong Kong Corruption - Denmark Corruption - Finland Corruption - New Zealand Corruption - Singapore
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references.
Nota di contenuto	Introduction : different paths to curbing corruption / Jon S.T. Quah -- The great Danes : successes and subtleties of corruption control in Denmark / Michael Johnston -- Control of corruption : the case of Finland / Ari Salminen -- Engaging the public : Hong Kong's independent commission against corruption's community relations strategy / Ian Scott -- Clean and green with deepening shadows? A non-complacent view of corruption in New Zealand / Robert Gregory, Daniel Zirker -- Curbing corruption in Singapore : the importance of political will, expertise, enforcement and context / Jon S.T. Quah -- Can India combat corruption? / Krishna K. Tummala -- Accounting for success in combating corruption / Gerald Caiden -- Different paths to curbing corruption : a comparative analysis / Jon S.T. Quah.

Corruption is a serious problem in many countries around the world, according to Transparency International's 2012 Corruption Perceptions Index (CPI) and the World Bank's 2011 Control of Corruption governance indicator. However, some countries like New Zealand, Denmark, Finland, Singapore and Hong Kong, have consistently performed better on these two indicators than other countries. While some research has been done in the form of case studies on combating corruption there has been no comparative study on how these five countries have succeeded in curbing corruption and the lessons to be learnt by other countries. This book seeks to explain why these five countries have succeeded in combating corruption; and identify the lessons which other countries can learn from these successful experiences. Of interest to policy-makers, anti-corruption practitioners and civil society activists, the edited book will also be a useful resource for undergraduate and graduate courses on corruption and governance in universities as well as for training courses on anti-corruption strategies conducted by anti-corruption agencies and international organizations in various countries.
