Sommario/riassunto

Social scientists examining contemporary Africa take considerable pains to resist portraying Africa as nothing more than a land of victims unable to escape historical cycles of war, exploitation and tyranny. However, children are still frequently conceptualised as passive actors, mere extensions of adult societies and receptors of culture. The authors in this volume argue that children are dynamic contributors to the shaping of contemporary Africa. Through novel and unorthodox ethnographic research methods, each chapter provides insights into children's perspectives on kinship, work, caring, health, migration and conflict, shedding light on children's views and the vital roles they play in the emerging Africa of tomorrow.

Sommario/riassunto	Lucien Gregoire, friend-biographer Albino Luciani, has written books on the evolution of world religions in a simple way so that a child can easily understand them. This is one of them. In 1947, Albino Luciani--the 33-day pope John Paul I--defended his thesis 'Origin of the Human Soul' in which he defined the human soul--what is it one is trying to save? What's more, he stumbled upon the secret of eternal life. Here, the theological complexity of Luciani's thesis is presented in a series of fun and entertaining conversations with a ten year old boy. The reincarnated Luciani takes the reader through the heavens of the world's major religions and stumbles upon one holding the secret to eternal life. One no longer has to guess. One can know in this life, one will live forever. Howard Jason Smith, Globe: "Insofar as it removes the question mark from the end of one's life, this book is a great comfort to the aging and those who contemplate death. Yet, it is most important to the young and those who contemplate life."
