

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910789566603321
Titolo	Researching violence in Africa [[electronic resource]] : ethical and methodological challenges // edited by Christopher Cramer, Laura Hammond, and Johan Pottier
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Leiden [Netherlands] ; ; Boston, : Brill, c2011
ISBN	1-283-12118-2 9786613121189 90-04-20439-3
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (192 p.)
Collana	Africa-Europe group for interdisciplinary studies, , 1574-6925 ; ; 6
Altri autori (Persone)	CramerChristopher, Dr. HammondLaura <1967-> PottierJohan
Disciplina	303.6096
Soggetti	Violence - Research - Africa Social conflict - Research - Africa Research - Moral and ethical aspects - Africa
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Navigating the terrain of methods and ethics in conflict research / Johan J.P. Pottier, Laura Hammond and Christopher M. Cramer -- Researching conflict in Africa : a researcher's account of IFE-Modakeke -- South-Western Nigeria / Olajide O. Akanji -- Researching children and violence in evolving socio-political contexts / Giorgia Dona -- Layers of silence : counterinsurgency in northeastern Ethiopia / Laura Hammond -- Uncertain ethics : researching civil war in Sudan / Sharon E. Hutchinson -- "From nation to family" : researching gender and sexuality / Danai Mupotsa -- Cooperative ethics as a new model for cultural research on peace and security / Derek B. Miller and Ron Scollon -- Hidden agendas in conflict research : informants' interests and research -- Objectivity in the Niger delta / Ukoha Ukiwo -- Silence and authoritative speech in post-violence northern Ghana / Martijn Wienia.
Sommario/riassunto	Researching violence and conflict can be challenging for a variety of reasons, including security risks to researchers and informants, restricted or lack of access to informants and field sites, and poor reliability of official data. Traditional methodological approaches may need to be adapted, and new methods may be called for. In addition, such research carries ethical challenges about representation of informants and information and possible use of the research for harmful ends. This book, drawing on research conducted throughout Africa in conflict zones and other insecure environments, considers the everyday dilemmas researchers face. It provides essential contributions to ongoing challenging debates about the use of alternative and mixed methods in social science research.
