1. Record Nr. UNINA9910789696803321 Autore Miller Kathryn <1971-> Titolo Public libraries going green [[electronic resource] /] / Kathryn Miller Chicago,: American Library Association, 2010 Pubbl/distr/stampa ISBN 0-8389-9086-X 1-283-17230-5 9786613172303 0-8389-9085-1 Descrizione fisica 1 online resource (119 p.) ALA public library handbook series Collana 022/.314 Disciplina Soggetti Library buildings - Environmental aspects - United States Library buildings - Energy conservation - United States Libraries and community - United States Public libraries - United States Environmental education - United States Lingua di pubblicazione Inglese Formato Materiale a stampa Livello bibliografico Monografia Note generali Description based upon print version of record. Nota di bibliografia Includes bibliographical references (p. 89-95) and index. Nota di contenuto The library's green role -- The library as a green place -- Green services at your library -- The library as green teacher. Sommario/riassunto Going Green is now a national issue, and patrons expect their library to respond in the same way many corporations have. Libraries are going green with logos on their websites, programs for the public, and a host of other initiatives. This is the first book to focus strictly on the library's role in going green, helping you with collection development, disposal, and recycling issues; green equipment, technology, and facilities; programming ideas with supporting tables and figures; and ways to get the community involved in the process.--From publisher description.