

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910790034403321
Autore	Berkowitz Michael
Titolo	The Jewish self-image [[electronic resource]] : American and British perspectives, 1881-1939
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London, : Reaktion Books, 2000
ISBN	1-283-13365-2 9786613133656 1-86189-881-9
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (178 p.)
Disciplina	305.8924
Soggetti	Jews Jews - Identity Zionists Self-perception - Religious aspects - Judaism
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	The Jewish Self-Image Cover; Imprint page; Contents; Acknowledgements; 1. Introduction; 2. The Gallery of Zionists; 3. Greater Deviations; Epilogue; References; Select Bibliography; Photographic Acknowledgements; Index
Sommario/riassunto	This text explores the ways in which Jews visualized themselves as a political entity between 1881 and 1939. Keen to assimilate into the Western societies of which they were a part, Jews also sought to preserve and re-invent forms of solidarity for themselves. Their efforts of self-assertion in the face of conflicting impulses came to be embodied in such personalities as Theodor Herzl and Rebecca Sieff.