Record Nr. UNINA9910790322403321 Developmental coaching: life transitions and generational perspectives Titolo // edited by Stephen Palmer and Sheila Panchal Pubbl/distr/stampa London;; New York:,: Routledge,, 2011 ISBN 1-136-88900-0 1-283-52019-2 9786613832641 0-203-84006-2 1-136-88901-9 1 online resource (xvi, 224 p.): ill Descrizione fisica Collana Essential coaching skills and knowledge PalmerStephen <1955-> Altri autori (Persone) PanchalSheila Disciplina 158.3 Soggetti Personal coaching Aging - Psychological aspects Age groups - Psychological aspects Change (Psychology) Lingua di pubblicazione Inglese Formato Materiale a stampa Livello bibliografico Monografia Nota di bibliografia Includes bibliographical references and index. 1 Life transitions and generational perspectives; Part I Developmental Nota di contenuto coaching - transitions and turning points; 2 Childhood transitions and celebrating strengths; 3 Coaching through the teenage years; 4 From twenties to thirties; 5 Becoming a parent; 6 Modern mid-life; 7 Looking forward to retirement; Part II Developmental coaching - themes and applications; 8 Positive psychology and strengths coaching through transition; 9 Managing generations; Final reflections; Web resources; Index. Sommario/riassunto Developmental Coaching explores many of the common transition points we experience throughout life, including teenage transitions, becoming a parent, mid-life and retirement. The book sets these transitions in their social context and reviews them in the light of generational factors. The book is introduced with key psychological concepts from areas such as lifespan development and positive psychology, in addition to insights from other disciplines, including management theory and sociology. The main topics of discussion are: coaching tools and techniques; broader societal and generational trends; how coaching can help individuals to realise positive growth. With case studies throughout, Developmental Coaching offers an essential resource for practising coaches, coaching psychologists, counsellors and other professionals who wish to further their knowledge of the developmental aspects of coaching and dealing with life transitions.