

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910791053403321
Autore	Matthews Lloyd J.
Titolo	General Henry Lockwood of Delaware : shipmate of Melville, co-builder of the Naval Academy, Civil War commander / / Colonel Lloyd J. Matthews
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Newark : , : University of Delaware Press, , [2014] ©2014
ISBN	1-61149-488-5
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (495 p.)
Disciplina	355.0092
	B
Soggetti	Generals - United States United States History Civil War, 1861-1865 Biography Kent County (Del.) Biography
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Bay Colony to Delmarva -- Henry Lockwood's early years -- The Florida War ordeal -- Life aboard a man-of-war -- The Asylum Naval School as precursor to the Naval Academy -- Building the Naval School at Fort Severn -- The Delmarva Pacification Campaign: an untold story -- Gettysburg: to preserve a nation -- Higher commands, rejoining the Army of the Potomac, and on toward Richmond -- Cold Harbor: the darkest day -- Final years of service and retirement -- The older brother: Navy Surgeon John Lockwood and the early years -- Surgeon Lockwood: the later assignments and a new life.
Sommario/riassunto	Based on a treasure trove of newly discovered information, General Henry Lockwood of Delaware: Shipmate of Melville, Co-builder of the Naval Academy, Civil War Commander offers the first comparative study of Lockwood's seminal influence on the emergence of the U.S. Naval Academy. Colonel Matthews shines new light on the Civil War commander, with a description of Lockwood's duties during the Seminole Indian War, an analysis of Melville's depiction of Professor Lockwood, a critical discussion of Alfred Thayer Mahan's depiction of

