

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910791462303321
Autore	Downs Gregory P
Titolo	Declarations of dependence [[electronic resource] ] : the long reconstruction of popular politics in the South, 1861-1908 // Gregory P. Downs
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Chapel Hill [N.C.] , : University of North Carolina Press, 2011
ISBN	1-4696-0340-3 0-8078-7776-X
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (359 p.)
Disciplina	975.6/03
Soggetti	Reconstruction (U.S. history, 1865-1877) - North Carolina Dependency - Political aspects - North Carolina - History - 19th century Patron and client - Political aspects - North Carolina - History - 19th century Political culture - North Carolina - History - 19th century Populism - North Carolina - History - 19th century North Carolina Politics and government 1861-1865 North Carolina Politics and government 1865-1950 North Carolina History Civil War, 1861-1865 Social aspects United States History Civil War, 1861-1865 Social aspects North Carolina Social conditions 19th century
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Introduction: Friends unseen : the ballad of political dependency -- Hungry for protection : the Confederate roots of dependence -- Slaves and the great deliverer : freedom and friendship behind Union lines -- Vulnerable at the circumference : demobilization and the limitations of the Freedmen's Bureau -- The great day of a counter : democracy and the problem of power in Republican Reconstruction -- The persistence of prayer : dependency after redemption -- Crazes, fetishes, and enthusiasms : the silver mania and the making of a new politics -- A compressive age : White supremacy and the growth of the modern state -- Coda: Desperate times call for distant friends : Franklin Roosevelt as the last good king?.

---

Sommario/riassunto

In this highly original study, Gregory Downs argues that the most American of wars, the Civil War, created a seemingly un-American popular politics, rooted not in independence but in voluntary claims of dependence. Through an examination of the pleas and petitions of ordinary North Carolinians, Declarations of Dependence contends that the Civil War redirected, not destroyed, claims of dependence by exposing North Carolinians to the expansive but unsystematic power of Union and Confederate governments, and by loosening the legal ties that bound them to husbands, fathers, and masters.

---