

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910791766603321
Autore	Burns Dan E (Dan Eric), <1945->
Titolo	Saving Ben [[electronic resource]] : a father's story of autism // by Dan E. Burns
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Denton, Tex., : University of North Texas Press, : Mayborn Graduate Institute of Journalism, c2009
ISBN	1-282-88973-7 9786612889738 1-57441-336-8 1-4416-7867-0
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (192 p.)
Collana	Mayborn literary nonfiction series ; ; no. 3
Disciplina	362.198/928588200922 B
Soggetti	Parents of autistic children - Texas Autistic children - Texas Autistic youth - Texas Fathers and sons - Texas Autism - Texas
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di contenuto	The storm. Wished upon a star ; Quirky Ben ; Diagnosis -- The journey ; Sunrise ; Sunset -- Oz. Sit, quiet hands, look at me ; The Benjamin project ; Expect a miracle ; Progress and challenges ; Sue, me, and Ben ; Doctors to the rescue ; Ben at school ; Cold war ; Aftershocks -- Never give up. Over the rainbow -- Going home.
Sommario/riassunto	Autism is a devastating neurological disorder that profoundly affects a person's language and social development. This book presents the story of one family coping with autism, told from the viewpoint of a father struggling to understand his son's strange behavior and rescue him from a downward spiral.