

| | |
|-------------------------|---|
| 1. Record Nr. | UNINA9910791931503321 |
| Autore | Haberman Bonna Devora <1960-> |
| Titolo | Israeli feminism liberating Judaism [[electronic resource]] : blood and ink / / Bonna Devora Haberman |
| Pubbl/distr/stampa | Lanham, Md., : Lexington Books, c2012 |
| ISBN | 1-282-16656-5 9786613809636 0-7391-6786-3 |
| Descrizione fisica | 1 online resource (263 p.) |
| Disciplina | 305.42095694 |
| Soggetti | Feminism - Israel Feminism - Religious aspects - Judaism Women - Israel - Social conditions Jewish women - Israel - Social conditions |
| Lingua di pubblicazione | Inglese |
| Formato | Materiale a stampa |
| Livello bibliografico | Monografia |
| Note generali | Description based upon print version of record. |
| Nota di bibliografia | Includes bibliographical references and index. |
| Nota di contenuto | Rhizomes and plateaus -- Genesis: sacred circles -- Between text and action -- Lascivious voices -- An expedition to the azure blue fringes -- Customs in and out of place -- Women counting -- Conceiving Exodus -- Blood and ink of Exodus -- Sea change -- Beyond the wall. |
| Sommario/riassunto | Haberman applies similar concerns about religion and society as inspired the Christianity-focused Liberation Theology to Judaism, especially in Israel. Engaging feminist interpretation of Jewish sources with first-hand struggles of a 23 year-strong social change movement in Jerusalem, "Women of the Wall," this book interrogates the interplay between civil and religious authority and contributes toward liberating religious culture from its gender oppressions, and toward rendering religion a liberating force in society. |