Record Nr. UNINA9910791950003321 Autore Moss Sarah Titolo Spilling the beans [[electronic resource]]: eating, cooking, reading and writing in British women's fiction, 1770-1830 / / Sarah Moss Manchester, U.K.; New York, N.Y., : Manchester University Press, 2009 Pubbl/distr/stampa 1-78170-271-3 ISBN 1-84779-447-5 Descrizione fisica 1 online resource (209 p.) Disciplina 823.6093564 Soggetti English fiction - 18th century - History and criticism English fiction - 19th century - History and criticism English fiction - Women authors - History and criticism Food in literature Englisch Lingua di pubblicazione Inglese Formato Materiale a stampa Livello bibliografico Monografia Note generali Description based upon print version of record. Includes bibliographical references and index. Nota di bibliografia Nota di contenuto Eating her words: the politics of commensality in Frances Burney's fiction and letters -- The maternal aliment: feeding daughters in the works of Mary Wollstonecraft -- The bill of fare: the politics of food in Maria Edgeworth's children's fiction -- Eating for Britain: food, family and national identity in Susan Ferrier's fiction -- Afterword. The study of food in literature complicates established critical Sommario/riassunto positions. This title explores the relation in the context of late 18th and early 19th century women's fiction, where concerns about bodily, of novels, conduct books and popular medicine.

economic and intellectual productivity and consumption power decades